Instructor: Mr. Willis
Spring 2011
Course Guidelines for Online Students in ESC100F: Physical Geology

Section number: CRN 23368

(Last updated, January, 2011)

12. Extra Credit

Extra credit will be offered at the discretion of the instructor. I would not count on extra credit in this course. In order for me to consider its application several conspiring events need to occur such as an appropriate geology related activity presents itself, the activity fits into the online format such that it is available to all the students, and it satisfies the learning outcomes of the course. No consideration will be given for the sole purpose of boosting a student's score.

Extra credit can take the form of reading and interpreting recent geologic articles in a scientific journal, attending a scientific seminal related to a geologic topic, or some other activity not yet conceived.